Given at Our Court at St. James's, the Sixth Day of November 1760, in the First Year of Our Reign.

St. James's, November 11.

The following humble Addreſs of the Archbiſhop, Dean and Chapter, Archdeacon, and Clergy of the Dioceſe of Canterbury, has been preſented to His Majeſty by the moſt Reverend Father in God the Archbiſhop: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Archbiſhop, Dean and Chapter, Archdeacon, and Clergy of the Dioceſe of Canterbury.

Moſt gracious Sovereign,

WE come into your Majeſty's Preſence with the deepeſt Senſe of that awful and moſt unexpected Stroke, by which God hath taken from us our late Excellent King your Grandfather, under whoſe juſt and mild and glorious Reign theſe Nations have flouriſhed ſo many Years: Yet we feel, at the ſame Time, the ſincereſt and higheſt Joy, on ſeeing his Throne filled by your Majeſty, Heir to His Royal Virtues, as well as His Dominions; who, even during your Minority, were our Hope and our Comfort, after the Loſs of your Princely Father; and whoſe hereditary good Diſpoſitions have been improved, by the tender Care of the admirable Princeſs your Mother, into a Character ſo amiable and worthy, that the affectionate Reverence of all your People had long prepared them to receive you as a ſingular Bleſſing, whenever Providence ſhould call you to rule over this your native Country.

But we of the Clergy are bound in particular to honour your Majeſty, as we do unfeignedly, for the exemplary Regularity of your Life; for your known Regard to the Doctrines and Inſtitutions of the Goſpel; for your gracious Reſolution, ſo immediately declared, to preſerve and ſtrengthen the Conſtitution, both in Church and State. Accordingly we beg Leave moſt humbly to aſſure your Majeſty, that in teaching our Fellow-Subjects every Part of their Duty, we will be eſpecially careful to inculcate Love to your Majeſty's Perſon, thankful Obedience to your Government, and a cheerful Support of whatever Burthens the Expence of publick Affairs may require: That as the Light of our Holy Faith, when obſcured in this Land by Heatheniſm, firſt ſhone out afreſh in the Dioceſe to which we belong, we will exert a peculiar Zeal to promote its Luſtre continually; and as we ſtand the firſt in Rank, will labour to approve ourſelves diſtinguiſhed Examples to others, both in our Inſtructions and our Behaviour.

By exerciſing our Function conſcientiouſly thus, we truſt we ſhall ſecure your Majeſty's Protection and Favour; and, what alone we value more, the Approbation and Acceptance of the Almighty; whom we earneſtly beſeech to reward your modeſt Diffidence of yourſelf, as he did that of Solomon, with unequalled Wiſdom and Proſperity; to give you Succeſs in the preſent neceſſary War, and enable you ſpeedily to conclude an honourable and laſting Peace; to make you a bleſſed Inſtrument in his Hands for eſtabliſhing Piety and Virtue, Liberty, Unanimity and Happineſs upon Earth; to extend your Majeſty's Reign to the utmoſt Duration of human Life; and effectually incline you to ſerve Him with ſuch Faithfulneſs of Heart, under all Sorts of Tryals, through the whole of your Days, that in the End you may receive the brigheſt of thoſe Crowns of Righteouſneſs, which the Lord hath promiſed to them that love him.

They afterwards waited on the Princeſs Dowager of Wales, and his Grace the Lord Archbiſhop made their Compliments to her Royal Highneſs in a Speech, to which her Royal Highneſs was pleaſed to return a moſt gracious Anſwer: They had all the Honour to kiſs her Royal Highneſs's Hand.

St. James's, November 10.

This Day the moſt Reverend Father in God the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, and the Clergy of the Cities of London and Weſtminſter, introduced by his Grace the Duke of Devonſhire, Lord Chamberlain of the Houſhold, waited in a Body on His Majeſty, with the following humble Addreſs.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Biſhop of London, the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, and the Clergy of the Cities of London and Weſtminſter.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Biſhop of London, Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, and the the Clergy of the Cities of London and Weſtminſter, do humbly beg Leave to approach your Royal Perſon, to condole with you upon the Death of our late moſt gracious Sovereign, and to congratulate your Majeſty upon your happy Acceſſion to the Throne of theſe Kingdoms.

Your faithful Clergy of the Dioceſe of London, ever ſtudious of teſtifying their Affection and Loyalty, deſire upon this Occaſion to give your Majeſty the ſtrongeſt Aſſurances of their inviolable Attachment to your Perſon and Government, and of their firm Reſolution at all Times to inculcate the ſame good Principles upon thoſe committed to their Care.

We beg Leave to acknowledge with all Thankfullneſs your Majeſty's great Goodneſs towards us in the gracious Declaration you have been pleaſed to make, that you will preſerve and ſtrengthen the Conſtitution both in Church and State: And we deſire farther to thank your Majeſty for your late Royal Proclamation for the Encouragement of Piety and Virtue, and for the preventing and puniſhing of Vice, Prophaneneſs, and Immorality. Such an early Teſtimony of your Majeſty's Pious Intentions, enforced by your Royal Authority, cannot fail of having the beſt Effect upon the Publick, and eſpecially upon the Magiſtracy of this Great Metropolis, in encouraging them to diſcharge their Duty in puniſhing all Prophaneneſs and Immorality, and particularly all Abuſes of the Sabbath-Day. So ſhall this Nation become a Praiſe in the Earth, and this Great and Royal City be as eminent for its Virtue, as it is for its Trade and Commerce throughout the World.

Our Prayers are daily offered up for the Welfare and Proſperity of your Majeſty, and your Royal Houſe; and may God grant you a long and ſucceſsful Reign over a grateful and happy People.

To which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to give the following moſt gracious Anſwer.

I Thank you for this early Teſtimony of your Loyalty, and Zeal, for My Government. The juſt Senſe you have of My affectionate Care of the Eſtabliſhed Church, and of My Concern for the Maintenance of True Religion, and Good Morals, among My People, is highly acceptable to Me; and you may depend on My conſtant Attention to protect the Clergy in the Enjoyment of all their Rights and Privileges.

His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive them very graciouſly; and they had all the Honour to kiſs His Majeſty's Hand.

After the great Loſs we have ſuſtained, it affords Matter of ſolid Comfort and Conſolation to us, that we are now under the Protection of a Prince, whoſe filial Piety, and other private and domeſtick Virtues, have ſhewn him to be worthy of a Crown: And our juſt Acknowledgments are due to your Royal Highneſs for that fair Proſpect we have of enjoying all Spiritual and Temporal Bleſſings under his wiſe Adminiſtration, and particularly an Increaſe of Virtue and Piety under the Influence of his great Example.

May God ſhower down his Bleſſings upon your Royal Highneſs and all your tender Off-ſpring: And may you long live in Health and Proſperity to enjoy the Happineſs of the King, your Son's, moſt flouriſhing and auſpicious Reign.

Although we are ſenſible that our late moſt gracious Sovereign has left your Majeſty engaged in an expenſive War, in Defence of the Rights of your Crown, the Protection of the Trade, and Poſſeſſions of your Subjects, and the Support of the Proteſtant Religion, and the Liberties of Europe: Yet we are happy in reflecting, that he has alſo left you the Hearts of a zealous and united People, the Councils of a wiſe and ſpirited Miniſtry, and the Arms of victorious and irreſiſtable Forces by Sea and by Land. With ſuch Means, and in ſuch a Cauſe, ſuited to the Magnanimity of your Royal Breaſt, Divine Providence has reſerved for the Opening of your Reign, the Glory of purſuing this juſt and neceſſary War, until it can be concluded, in Concert with your Allies, by an honourable, advantageous, and laſting Peace. Trade and Commerce have ever been tha favourite Objects of their Care: And e're God had called your Majeſty to the Government of your native Country, you made the Knowledge of its Commercial Intereſts the chief Purſuit of your early Years, which were dedicated to thoſe Studies that beſt befit the Heir Apparent of a Mighty Empire.

The wonderful Succeſſes with which Providence has bleſt the Arms of Great Britain, open a new and more extenſive Scene to your Majeſty's Wiſdom, and to the Ingenuity, Arts and Induſtry of your faithful Subjects: And great as the Expence has been, and ſtill muſt be, of the juſt and neceſſary War in which your Majeſty is engaged for their Safety and Proſperity, it will be chearfully and vigorouſly ſupported with the Lives and Fortunes of a People, prompted by Love and Zeal for your Majeſty's Glory, and animated by thoſe manifeſt Marks of Divine Favour with which the God of Hoſts has owned the Juſtice of your Cauſe, until your heroic Labours end, in Concert with your Allies, in a ſafe and honourable Peace.

If any Thing can attone for that moſt melancholy Event, it is the high and great Expectations the Nation has ſo much Reaſon to entertain, from your Majeſty's known princely Virtues; your Love to Liberty, and the Conſtitution of your native Country, and your pious Attachment to the Religion of theſe Kingdoms; theſe princely Endowments, Sir, with the Bleſſing of God, will enable you to follow ſuch prudent, and wiſe Councils, as will extricate the Nation from the preſent bloody, and expenſive, tho' ſucceſsful and neceſſary War, and procure to us the Bleſſing of a ſafe, honourable, and laſting Peace. As your Majeſty early aſcends the Throne in the Midſt of a juſt and neceſſary War, it is our greateſt Happineſs to know your Majeſty's Affection for your People, and Attention to our Religion, Laws and Liberties, Trade and Commerce; and we truſt in God, that your Majeſty poſſeſſing the Virtues of your truly good and great Predeceſſor, will be able to proſecute the War in ſuch a Manner as to procure an honourable and laſting Peace. That your Majeſty's Reign may be long and proſperous over a loyal, grateful and united People; and that the

Crown

Crown of theſe Kingdoms may ever deſcend to One of your Majeſty's illuſtrious Family.

With happy Omens your Majeſty aſcends the Throne with the intire Confidence of your People in thoſe princely Virtues and juſt Sentiments of Government, which you have early learnt from the Example and Practice of your Royal Grandfather, and our late patriot Prince your Father, and in your declared Affection to the Country which boaſts your Birth; and at a Time when the Commerce and Dominions of Britain are more extended than ever, and her Character in Arts and Arms is apparently the Envy and Terror of the moſt ambitious and dreaded Power in Europe.

May Providence continue its Bleſſings on your Majeſty's Arms and Councils, and crown you with a long and proſperous Reign over a dutiful and grateful People; may you ever reign, and, with your great Anceſtors, think it only glorious to reign in the Hearts and Affections of your Subjects; and may you long enjoy, and think it the greateſt Bleſſing of Royalty, to enjoy the Power of bleſſing Nations that ſerve and love you.

Theſe diſtinguiſhed Circumſtances, which will for ever make the Memory of your Royal Grandfather revered by this Nation, would render our Grief for the Loſs of him moſt permanent, did not your Majeſty's Virtues, ſo conſpicuous in an early Seaſon of Life, promiſe a Continuation of the ſame Felicity to your People.

Your Majeſty's ſo early and gracious Declaration, confirmed by your immediate, affectionate Attention in Conſequence, to the Honour and Welfare of this your native Country, and at ſo critical a Juncture, muſt certainly endear your Majeſty to every thinking Briton, and make him in Tongue and Heart a grateful, dutiful, and faithful Subject.

To ſee all our Party Feuds and Diſtinctions ſo happily vaniſhed, our Commerce ſo well protected from the Violence of a long and deſtructive War, new Colonies and Territory almoſt daily added to the Britiſh Empire, and every other Part of the Publick Service ſo duly attended to and exerted under the Care and Vigilance of an able, faithful, and active Miniſtry, cannot but give the moſt ſenſible Pleaſure to your People, and make them chearful in their Supplies for ſo uſeful a Purpoſe.

Permit us, Royal Sir, in particular, moſt humbly to aſſure your Majeſty of our inviolable Attachment to your Sacred Perſon and Government; and as Monmouth has been once honoured with the Birth of one of the greateſt of your Royal Anceſtors, the Scourge, the Conqueror of France; ſhould the Ambition or Envy of that perfidious Nation, contrary to the Dictates of Reaſon and Humanity, oblige your Majeſty to a Continuance of the preſent juſt and neceſſary War, may your Majeſty's Succeſſes be as Signal and Glorious as His, and Victory upon Victory ſtill attend your Fleets and Armies, till Gallic Pride ſhall be once more humbled, and forced to an equitable, ſafe, and honourable Peace.

To conclude, and not to preſume any further on your Majeſty's moſt precious Moments, may every Bleſſing attend your Majeſty in a long, very long, and proſperous Reign over us; and may the Britiſh Diadem lineally deſcend to your illuſtrious Progeny to the laſt Period of Time.

PErmit us, your faithful and dutiful Subjects, after our Condoleance for the Loſs of His late Majeſty of glorious Memory, humbly to expreſs our Joy and Duty on your happy and auſpicious Acceſſion to the Crown of theſe Realms, an Event which was wanting to compleat the deſirable Effects of the Act of Settlement, by having our Sovereign born amongſt us. We aſſure your Majeſty, that notwithſtanding the great Weight of our Taxes, and our immenſe Debt, that we ſhall, under your Majeſty's Government, with the utmoſt Chearfulneſs, ſupport you in carrying on this juſt and neceſſary War, till we obtain a ſafe and honourable Peace, for the true and laſting Intereſt of theſe Kingdoms.

We beg leave humbly and moſt gratefully to acknowledge our juſt Reliance on your Majeſty; that the Rule of your Government will be to promote in every thing the Glory and Happineſs of theſe Kingdoms, and to preſerve and ſtrengthen both the Conſtitution in Church and State.

It is a real Happineſs to reign over a People united in Sentiments and Affection to your Royal Perſon; and we have the ſtrongeſt Aſſurance that the Glory and Happineſs of theſe Kingdoms will be continued to us under your Majeſty's auſpicious Reign.

We beg Leave to aſſure you, that we will faithfully execute the Truſts repoſed in us, under your Majeſty's Authority, with the greateſt Fidelity and Zeal for your Majeſty's Service: And alſo to add our ſincereſt Wiſhes and Prayers, that your Majeſty's Reign may be long and proſperous; and that there may never be wanting one of your moſt illuſtrious Houſe to fill the Throne of theſe Realms to lateſt Poſterity.

Your Majeſty will permit us now to turn our Thoughts to the only true Conſolation, and to congratulate you on your happy Acceſſion to the Throne of theſe Kingdoms. We are truly ſenſible of the great Weight of Government devolved on your Majeſty; but as England happily derives a Title from your Royal Declaration to your Heart as well as Birth, we cannot doubt, but that from your declared and fixed Purpoſe through Life to preſerve our happy Conſtitution, and the able Advice of your Council, and the chearful Support of every honeſt Subject, that Weight will gradually leſſen, you be ſurrounded with Glory, and your Subjects bleſs'd with an honourable and laſting Peace.

Hague, Nov. 7. According to Letters received from Prince Ferdinand's Head Quarters of the 31ſt paſt, no Change of Importance has been made in the Situation of the reſpective grand Armies in thoſe Parts. The Hereditary Prince of Brunſwick, we hear, had left his Camp at Kleinen Reckum, and, having reinforced the Garriſon of Munſter, marched towards Hamm, which Place his Highneſs is ſuppoſed to have reached about this Time; and M. de Caſtries has already ſent eight Battalions towards Heſſe, ordered as many more into Quarters in the Country of Liege, and diſtributed the reſt at Weſel, Duſſeldorp, and adjoining Places.

By the laſt Accounts from the King of Pruſſia, his Majeſty having retaken Wittenberg and Torgau, was, on the 28th paſt, near Leipſig, towards which Place the Army of the Empire, joined to General Laſcy's Corps, had retreated. The Pruſſian General Hulſen has lately gained an Advantage againſt the Wirtemberg Troops, in which he took eight Officers, three hundred Men, and three Pieces of Cannon.

THURSDAY, November 13, 1760.

Whitehall, November 12, 1760.
Wedneſday Night.

LATE this Evening, a Meſſenger arrived at the Earl of Holderneſſe's Office at Whitehall, with the following Letter from the Honourable Major General Yorke, His Majeſty's Miniſter Plenipotentiary at the Hague.

Hague, November 10, 1760.
Monday Morning, Six o'Clock.

My Lord,

BY a Meſſenger this Moment arrived from Magdebourg, we have the great, glorious, and fortunate News, That it had pleaſed the Divine Providence to give His Pruſſian Majeſty a complete Victory over the whole Auſtrian Army under Marſhal Daun, on the 3d Inſtant, near Torgau. The King of Pruſſia ſent this Account to Magdebourg; but as the Night was come on, His Majeſty wrote Word, that he could not ſend all the Particulars. The Meſſenger, who brought the Account, ſaid, That Marſhal Daun had been obliged to repaſs the Elbe, which muſt have had the moſt important Conſequences in ſuch a Seaſon. We learn by the ſame Meſſenger, that the Ruſſians were marched into Poland; and that General Loudohn, having failed in his Attempt upon Coſel, had been obliged to retire into Upper Sileſia.

I diſpatch this by Bullock the Meſſenger, who accompanies the Pruſſian Courier, on Board a Fiſhing-Boat; and, as the Weather is fine, and the Wind fair, I make no Doubt but they will arrive ſpeedily in England.

I have the Honour to congratulate your Lordſhip moſt ſincerely upon this happy and providential Event, which cannot but have the greateſt Conſequences.

Signed,

JOSEPH YORKE.
